100% Real Halal Quality

Al Islami understands that the real meaning of Halal food is not limited to the way animals are slaughtered according to Islamic Sharia, but goes beyond this in terms of quality and hygienic monitoring. Slaughtering animals following Islamic teachings is the milestone of producing Halal food, and that's why Muslims are committed to adhering to these specific rules - using a well-sharpened knife with the name of Almighty Allah mentioned at the moment of slaughtering.

Providing quality Halal food to the Muslim World was one of the biggest challenges, as the majority of the slaughter was conducted using non-Halal practices such as stunning. Al Islami tackled this obstacle by procuring special permits around the world to slaughter animals according to Halal principles.

From production to shipping, and ensuring quality control to establishing the highest standards, the process is closely monitored and controlled by our resident representatives at our various production warehouses. Al Islami upholds their commitment to 100% Halal in quality, taste and wellness.

Haj Saeed Bin Ahmed Lootah,
Visionary - Al Islami Foods

One belief that stood strong...

One man who trusted that belief...

One company that succeeded because of this belief...

Al Islami Foods

Haj Saeed Bin Ahmed Lootah, the visionary behind Al Islami Foods, passionately believed in and adopted Islamic principles and values across every facet of Al Islami Foods. His unswerving commitment to these values helped Al Islami Foods set a benchmark for Sharia-compliant practices across various industries.

As an organisation founded on these principles, Al Islami undertook every effort in order to ensure its meat imports to the region were 100% Halal. With growing demand for Halal products around the world, Al Islami geared up to meet this need by establishing its first food processing factory in Jebel Ali.

Today, the company continues to closely monitor every aspect of its business and works uncompromisingly with its strategic partners and suppliers - both international and regional - in order to uphold its commitment to bring only the finest 100% Halal quality to homes all over the world.

So whenever you enjoy a meal made with Al Islami products, you can be assured that you're not only savouring the finest quality foods but are also sharing our commitment to 100% Real Halal.
